Yesterday morning a novel wager was entered into whereby George J. Mold is to cfreumnavigate the globe without speaking a word, except through a ventriloquial figure, and return within four years with $20,000.

When Paul Jones, the "Globe Trotter," was on exhibition in this city a short time ago, Mr. Mold made the statement in the hearing o fCash Henderson, that he could go around the world with a venirfloquial figure and never say a word except through it, and also return with money in his pocket. This Mr. Hemlerson did not think possible, and the wager was the result.

Novelty Dress Goods.

We know that most people are particular in buying Dress Goods just now. There is an extra call for something especially chic approaching this Christmas time. That's why we say look here for it. If we haven't what you want, it is hard to get it anywhere. We have always the correct thing. You admit that. Do you think we lead eleven months in the year and lag now when trade is trade? Scarcely. We have just opened a splendid lot of Dress Lengths---just one of a kind. Prices lower than early in the season.

TO THE LADIES.

In buying Groceries, you want the most your money can get, at the same time you want them of the best quality. We don't handle any other kind. If you are not satisfied with an article purchased here you can bring it back and get your money. Nothing could be fairer than that. So much for the goods, now for the prices: We started the Cash System in Wichin, and the other fellows can't reach our prices. It is simply suicide for them to try it—the reason is simple. You all know the old axiom, "Large sales and small profits?" Well, nothing is truer. The volume of our business is so much greater than theirs that we not only get the benefit of lower prices on our large purchases, but it costs us a much cless percentage to do business, and our customers cannot fail to get the advantage. Another point in favor of dealing with us is this: We handle goods so rapidity, they are always fresh, nothing has time to get stale. If you buy groceries from us, you will surely have more money left for Christmas presents.
